Found Nicholas, naturally enough, sought illicit pleasures and took up with the ballet dancer, Kszesinska. His liaison with that woman remained unknown to his august father, but it could not escape the attention of those nearest to the Emperor. They urged him to haster the marriage of the heir. In the meantime His Majesty was taken ill and, as a result, became anxious to see his son married without any further delay. It was then the rejected bride, Princess Alix, was remembered, and the heir was despatched to Darmstadt

Hyde's delense was that the United States was not in fact defrauded because the State of California had never made any complaint but apparently was perfectly satisfied with the sales of State lands, the full purchase price having been paid and the school fund having been benefited to that extent. Furthermore, Hyde claimed that he should not be held accountable for the acts of others. Wickersham, McReynolds and Gregory, who successively filled the office of attorney-general of the United States, seem to have been also of this opinion, for each of them recommended Hyde's pardon. The president first gave a commutation of sentence from two years to one year, and afterwards cut off the

Lastly, but not least let us have peace between the Pirates and Witches. We all know that boys without girls are rather dull, and vice versa. Anyway, when we wrangia and scrap we haven't time to write stories or draw or have any fun. The girls are just as important as the boys, and the boys just as im-portant as the girls. I know that a few pert remarks from either sex livens up the page just as spice or pepper does food, but too much of it does harm, so let's see if we can't be peaceful law-abiding, happy, fun-

One morning they went fishing. They decided to fish under a big elm tree which hung over the river's bank. "This is where old Ling-Sen, the hundry man, was murdered." Harry informed them.

"What was he murdared for?"

"No, you go over there and we'll sing here." said practical Hazel.
No somer had the boy got out of the girls hearing than George commenced to unfold a plan whereby the girls could be scared away so that they could fish in peace, as he where are you going and what found the clutched hand of a man where are you going and what found the clutched hand of a man are larger than the clutched hand of a man are larger to the clu the girls' hearing than George com-tight corner. Believe me, I pretty near got in bad with the Y yesterday. We, (the dass I mean), went for a swim, and you know you get your suits and towels and when you come out, by golly, you have to turn 'em in again. So after the swim that boob of an Alice forgot to ask for a towel as she came in, and she happened to think of it while in the water so she goes out first. 1 looked around the plunge for her and as I didn't see her, thought she would be dressing, so I got out and went to get my towel and to have my shower - and used it. Gee, I coulda wrung her neck. I grabbed it out of her hand and she grabbed it back and we sawed back and forth till the dern thing split in two. 'Now,' said Alice, 'you have played hob.' So I said, 'You boob, give me that towel and I'll get us both one.' I happened to know where they kept the soiled ones, so I pinned the towel together and chucked it in the clothes hamper and took two out and then Alice and I washed them under the shower and rolled 'em in the suits and turned 'em in without batting an eye. I just know that girl in the check room would swear she gave us each a towel, so what's the use of having an argument and getting her sore at us? Gee, she would save us the shabbiest suits and the rustiest towels. Believe i me, I'm taking no chances. Well, ole top, I'll leave you to your misery and see you tomorrow."

CHAPTER V.

"Well, Dessie, what's the matter," asked Lucy as her chum limped up to the serving table. "Been to a dance or didja drop a dumb-bell on your foot?"

"No, I just got a new pair of shoes for $7.98 marked down from $3.25. Lordy, my feet feel like a Chinawoman's. I went into the shoe store and asked to be fitted to a comfortable pair of Oxfords and the pale young man with lily white hands, that waited on me, got down about six pairs. He first put on a beautiful tan Oxford and I turned my foot this way and that admiring it and thinking to myself, 'Gee, Dessie, you sure got nifty ankles and that shoe was just made for you' and I casually asked him the price. He said $18.75 without batting an eye. Gee, I fanned myself with the box lid until the sick feeling passed and asked him if I looked like the widow of a Chicago pork packer or maybe he thought I was an oil queen. He really was very nice-he only smiled and tried on another one. That little piece of leather was only $15.00. So we went down the line and I finally fell onto this pair at $7.98, but as usual I had tried on so many that my foot was kinda paralyzed and past feeling and they too dern tight. This are dispair and it seemed that my pore feet musta swelled or something—I sure like to never got 'em on. The last thing ma said was, 'Now, Dessie, be sure and get 'em big enough,' so I'd die in my tracks before I'll let the folks know they hurt like the deuce. Last night Alice kept saying, 'Dessie, come here' or 'bring me that' just to see me get up and limp. I finally got onto her curves and told her to wait on herself. I guess all that hiking I've been doing has made my feet spread out. No wonder Big Bertha wears sevens on a D last. The poor thing has

We have only two weeks more and then it's a job for both of us. Alice is practicing on her typewriter and she'll be getting something to do soon. I don't hardly know what to look for. Demonstrating gets very monotonous. Maybe I'll change my occupation. I've gotta friend who is a waitress and she wants me to go to work with her. She said it isn't very hard work and

"Say, Lucy, I had a rotten time the other night. Lena and Annie and Lena's Dutchman and Annie's lineman and a friend of the lineman's and I all took a ride to the beach. This Pill they had picked for me was the limit. He was a little runt and wore Oxfords with bow ties and he was shorter than I am so I just naturally too a dislike to him at first part of the evening it wasn't so bad but the more I looked at that guy the more I hated him. Gee, I thought—just look at the good sleep I'm missing. I would really sooner been home doing the washing than to a been there. Lena had a headache and didn't say very much and Annie never does talk and the whole conversation was up to this Pill and me. We danced till the Pill said he had a blister on his heel -and then when I found out that good news I kept insisting on dancing more than ever. We started home about eleven o'clock and the Pill got very confidential. He said, 'Girlie, I'll have to He said, 'Girlie, I'll have to take you to Honolulu on my next trip.' I said, 'Yeh, I'll be rocking my grandchildren to sleep when you make that trip.' And he said. 'No, really, I mean it. I expect to go this summer.' And I said 'Do you think I'm Rebecca from Sunnybrook Farm, Percy? Why. you couldn't take me across the bay.' Gosh, I just couldn't help but sit on him. He was so stuck on himself. Gee, I feel sorry for that guy's mother. Just look at the years she's struggled to raise a son and then to have him turn out to be a little ole yellow pill with bows on his shoes. Well, all I can say is if I'd been president I'd hunted up all these kinda guys and put 'em in the front line trenches - and give 'em a chance to do something worth while, if only to make the world safe for the Democrats. Well, ole timer, I gotta be on my way. I'll see you tomorrow."

The city which would occupy the shining hall of fame must have a mayor with the skill to boost its grandest game; who does not view his office as a soft and easy chair with sundry free electric fans to circulate the air, but sees it as an outpost in a battle long and tough, where he must meet the enemy and

And John L. Davie is a gent who glories in the scrap. Agpression is engraved upon his military map. He flaunts a red carnation as the pennon of his clan, but while opponents know him as a fierce and warlike man, there is another side of him as calm and tame as milk, as harmless as October days, as soft and smooth as silk.

All public institutions should be suitably displayed, and Pavie knows that mayors should be properly arrayed. We burnish up the city hall and trim the public grass, and Davic does not lose the step or fall behind in class, but comes to duty with his garb artistically creased, by which our progress to the heights is obviously greased.

We made him mayor some time back and then we let him go, with jumping beans and hairless dogs he romped in Mexico. Then he came back and ran again, and spake unto the mob. Another election came along and handed him the job. Just like another "John L." man this Davic is a chap, who takes delight in council fight, a wonder in a scrap,

They're always either stepping from the motorbus or train or packing up their baggage to be off and gone again.

They do not watch the grapevines grow. They do not dig or build. For labors of constructiveness they are not bent or exilled. They seek at hand and ready made what only years can bring. They want the prize of permanence while always

I hurried away from the summer house without another word, wondering whether I had said too much for too little. Of course, I had over-drawn the picture. His behavior had not been as atrocious as I had pictured it, but I had sub-consciously followed a favorite saying of my little mother's in my course of con-

"Jack was so blind to his own conduct that I had purposely painted my picture in the blackest hue, hoping that the reaction at the sight of it would bring him back to his old kindly chivalrous self.

He stayed in the summer house for an hour, and only Katherine knows what his thoughts were during that time. Then I heard him outside their room door rather gruffly demanding that Katherine should accompany him for a walk. She came out in a few minutes, and they disappeared in the direction of the woodland through which runs the little brook that Dicky and I love so well, and which I had shown to them early in the week. They did not return until long after luncheon time—to Katie's dismay, for she had taken especial pains with their last watching from an unseen post of vantage, saw with an exultant leap of my heart that Katherine's eyes were starry with happiness, her face transfigured from the lined travesty of its old loveliness which had trou-

Evidently they had come to a perfect understanding, but I wondered if Jack would ever forgive me for the part I had played. Whether purposely or not, I do not know, but he left me in suspense as to his attitude all the rest of the day. But with wise would have done. But with the departure of Jack and Kaththe departure of Jack and Katherine, and my relief at the outcome of my interview with Jack I found my thoughts turning distractedly toward Lillian, wondering why it was that she, usually so swift in despatching any errand, had been compelled to stay so long at this one. Dicky demanded one evening when upon coming in from the train he had found me with my face in my hands, so deep in thought that I had not heard him come into the reom.

the process. The clean and eager sweep of eight expected that such desperate hungriness will many transformations and some gloating. The gloating will be for regular party followers, who ! have stayed by the ship, as it were. They will also feel entitled to consideration when the rewards are distributed. But some who were thick-andthin are also getting themselves mentioned. Some who in the dubious times stood hyphenated on official registers as to their political prediler--tions, are now down as straight Republicans, and figure as having done strenuous work in the great upheaval that took place.

No Rush Yet for Federal Jobs

Considering that there is such a plethora of jobs now so unanimously held by "the party of the second part." many of which were wrenched without much regard from perfectly good and faithful Republicans eight years ago, the clamor of those willing to fill the same is subdued. The contrast between the present time and that when the other change was made is striking. I have made inquiries in quarters where information along this line would naturally be had as to those who aspire, with meagre results. What might be considered the prime job here is the collectorship of the port. I was able to hear but one name mentioned, that of W. B. Hamilton, who is and has been for years first assistant collector. He is well known in Oakland, being the son of the late Judge Noble Hamilton. In this connection a statement by Senator Curtis of Kansas is of interest-though it is not explained whether he talks ex cathedra or only on general lines. Senator Curtis says the incoming administration is going to eliminate 200,000 government jobs in its reform effort. That being so it is suggested what a colossal elemosynary institution the United States government has been for eight years.

Hunter's Point Badly Presented

I encountered a Hunter's Point proponent during the: week and heard a bitter lament over the way the merits of that proposed naval site was presented to the committee. First he noticed the business-like, comprehensive manner in which the Alameda site was presented—the concise data, the maps, the markings showing the scope and boundaries of the proposed site, the readiness to answer every inquiry, and finally the brief though pat speeches that were formally made. At Hunter's Point, he represented, there were no markjugs to indicate the site, the data was jumbled and inconclusive and the speakers were longwinded and inclined to talk on matters that were not germane and to attack other sites, rather than to hold forth on their own. Two of the speakers had to be interrupted, they were so far off the subject. This informant was of the opinion that while the site he favored was preferable, its selection was greatly handicapped by the manner in which it had been presented.

County Officers Disgruntled

There is a visible feeling over the defeat of Amendment 47. As originally planned it was to increase the salaries of the District Attorney. Auditor, County Clerk, Coroner, Treasurer, Reper annum. They are now receiving $4000 which. considering their responsibilities, the high cost of living and the way that wages and salaries have advanced, is not unreasonable. But when the matter came before the supervisors for them to enact the required ordinance the scope was enlarged to include the eighteen supervisors and the five election commissioners. The supervisors now receive $2400 a year, which was to be increased to $3600: the election commissioners, who have no duties except in election periods, receive $1200 a year, which was to be increased to $1500. The measure was decidedly defeated, and proponents of the county officers lay the defeat to the fact of the others being imposed on the ordinance They represent that there is a general recognition that the county officials might receive an increase without violence to the proprieties, but that there is also a feeling that the others are being recompensed fairly well and that the measure was killed rather than see them participate in the increase

Hayden Is Tickled

About the best pleased man over the result of the balloting on the ordinances and amendments submitted at the recent election is Supervisor J. Emmet Hayden. As is well known, he is the chairman of the Auditorium committee, and as such has to do with the great organ and the concerns and persons that circle around it, not the least of which is Organist Lemarc. The organist

Mr. Hayden figured per contra and was able to make a showing that kept the matter in abeyance ! for some time. Finally it was referred to the mayor to act, and he acted by entering into a contrace with the organist as stated. Harden says to as the "rewards," are to , the organist is-what is it called-now-tem peramental, and the Lemare propopents, which number, besides the mayor a powerful coterie in the Bohemian Club, declare that Hayden has no music in his soul. Anyhow, Ordinance 22, instr years ago will be remembered, and while it is not; gated and engineered by Hayden, was adopted, 61.785 to 58,185. It provides that an organist characterize this change, there are expected to be ! shall be employed to give a weekly recital, and shall be paid $100 for each recital, but his total salary shall not exceed $5000 a year. This, the chairman of the Auditorium committee considers. puts one over rather definitely on Lemare. It has been stated by his friends that the organist has received an offer in excess of that paid by the city to go to England, and Supervisor Hayden manifests interest as to whether he will now accept it.

Addicatt Affair Now to Get Action

One result of the recent election is an apparent crisis in the Addicott affair. The grand july is nosing into the matter, and the educational committee of the same has had an extended confab with the mayor. It will be remembered that the resignation of George Gallagher, president of the Board of Education, was demanded by a citizen some months ago. on the ground that he was not . it has been oil, and is so yet to a considerable ex-, than any other kind of a "grandstand." devoting all his time to the duties of his office, as the charter required. The mayor declared at the time that the president of the board was devoting the required amount of his time to educational affairs, and that was the end of that. But Amendment 37 had not then been passed by vote of the people. It is now believed the matter has been brought to the mayor's attention from another angle. The president of the board gave the mayor his resignation some fourteen months ago. That it was "phony" must be concluded from the fact that he has held on ever since. The mayor promises action in the Addicott matter within a week. Here is another illustration of the result of the popular vote to reorganize the school department. The Board of Education unanimously voted to suspend Addicott: but the city attorney' brought in an unexpected opinion that their action was megal. The board of Education has not undone its action, evidently awaiting instructions from the mayor. It was this well known habit of eating out of the mayor's hand that Amendment 37 was designed to cure.

Radical Change in Schools

The amendments to the city charter reorganizing the school department make some radical changes. The Board of Education is to consist of seven members, to be appointed by the mayor, subject to confirmation or rejection by the voters. The term shall be seven years, but it is so arranged that one member is to be selected every year. This militates against their becoming mere puppets of the appointing power. The directors are to receive as compensation fifteen dollars a day for service on the board and ten dollars a day for service on committee, but shall draw no pay unless actually present on board or committee. The superintendent shall be the executive officer of the board, appointed by it, to serve during us pleasure, and his salary shall be fixed by it. The superintendent shall appoint four deputies. The superintendent and deputy superintendents shall be trained educators and shall not be subject to any provision prescribing a residence qualification for officers or appointers, except that they erals. ### Ninth Congressional District

Those who size up political situations are un decided as to what is likely to happen in the Ninth district, where an election must be held to fill the vacancy caused by the tragic death of Congressman-elect Van de Water in an automobile accident. This was Randall's district, which he had held since 1914, when he beat out Bel!. Randall was, the lone Prohibitionist of the Congressional body-classified as such in the Congressional directory-and until this year could | ments that were satisfactory, leased the premises when the primaries took place, a member of the Congressional committee that was looking into trade and other conditions. It was possibly a surprise that he was beaten so decisively. Now there is uncertainty as to whether he will be in a strong position to contest in the special election. California, from being the most piebald in its Congressional representation of any State, had to as the "arrested development" at Eddy and emerged in the last election to nine Republicans' Mason. An unfinished building has loomed there and two Democrats. In 1914, for instance, it was for ten years. The location has come to be the four Democrats, three Republicans, three Progressives and one Independent. I hear that the Union League Club is looking for new quarters. Its present location at Powell and O'Farrell streets is owned by the Pryor estate. The Pryor estate also owns what is generally referred center of retail, amusement and cafe life. The unfinished structure occupies the site that the

The Aggressive Traffic Cop

Automobilists are notoriously out of conceit with traffic cops, very especially those who operate in the country, and are able in instances to make out a case against them for officiousness and unreasonable exercise of authority. A case is on trial at Visalia that is interesting in this connection. A cop shot and killed a driver of an automobile who was on his way from Bakersfield to San Francisco. He claimed that the driver failed to halt when ordered, also that he was intoxicated. This officer seemed to have the idea government falls. But Vanderlip and those in ! that very many officers have-that when a person refuses to balt or fails to balt at command of a peace officer, he is justified in shooting him Even if this driver tried to drive on, and even if be was intoxicated, he still had committed no capital crime to justify his execution. Police officers and cops generally might understand that people who do not obey their commands with promptness, and are merely suspected of some minor infraction of the law, do not thereby become legal targets for official fusillades.

The Police Courts

Possibly legal tribunals in this city are at their lowest estate in the police courts. Absence of all the features that ought to leave an impress as to the majesty of the law characterize these tribunals to an extent that has many times been commented upon by casual observers and visitors from abroad. Spasmodic attempts have been made toward improvement, and now there is talk of forming an organization to inculcate greater respect and reverence for courts in general. It is realized that all courts suffer from a bad example down at the fountain head of justice. The matter has come to greater notice through recent upheavals in the police courts. One of the judges now faces disbarment, and the grand jury has in recent times paid attention to doings therein. Quite recently there has been the spectacle of one of the judges refusing to permit a deputy district attorney to appear before him. The deputy district attorney had appeared officially before Its I the grand jury when it was considering matters

But the new president, John S. Drum; chosen from the descendant members, is stirring and there is a prospect of renewed activities in this famous organization. At a recent meeting at the Palace hotel President Drum outlined a plan to rebuild the collection which was so lamentably destroyed. He called upon members to express their opinion of his plan, and found himself cordially seconded. One who spoke on the subject and who was well qualified to speak was Charles B. Turrill. Mr. Turrill for many years has been an enthusiastic collector of souvenirs and relics of California. It is housed in a dwelling on Sanchez street, and there are literally tons of it. It is so large and varied that it would form a considerable nucleus for a collection, not to say an addition to one. I have casually inspected it on several occasions, in amplifying stories of the early days, and have always shuddered at the possibility of such a rich collection being exposed so flagrantly to destruction by another general conflagration, or a neighborhood blaze. Turrill has generously offered this collection, stipulating only that it shall never be dispersed. Such a collection will be invaluable in any relation such as that which the Society of Pioneers propose.

Wagner Gets à New Star

There were many who felt that Charles L Wag ner, when he lost the management of Galli-Curci, was shabbily used. Those knowing to the circumstances understood that a good deal of the cantatrice's success was due to good management, and that Wagner had not always found it agreeable going in managing her affairs. She is very temperamental. That word has come to express all the difficult things in an artist's disnosition While Wagner was no doubt thankful for the interest manifested by the general public in his side of the matter, he did not fret over the flight of a star on an eccentric orbit, but wheeled around country over, and prepared to size up any propo- shave or a shine on Sunday; of being able to buy and took up Mary Garden. And there the poor supervisors cess as is to her credit in opera, particularly as, her portrayal of characters trended toward the lurid. But excepting John McCormack, she has turned out to be the greatest drawing card before the public, and so Wagner is not in need of vehe ment sympathy because of the parting of the ways with Galli-Curci.

Curtis H. Lindley

In one of the eulogies pronounced upon the late Curtis H. Lindley it was said: "Not only was he a great lawyer, but he was a great citizen." There could hardly be a finer tribute to one who has been eminent in a special line of effort than that he excelled in the commoner things summed up in the multifarious duties that go to make up the good citizen. In a long career in our midst that is the record that Curtis H. Lindley earned. He was not only great in law-in the specialization to which he devoted his attention-but he honored and illuminated every activity with which he became associated. Beyond and above his sense of the obligation that all members of his professeem preferable to let the speeder escape than to | sion owed society was his sense of everybody's by his associate of years, Judge Frank S. # Big Business of Harbor

The month of October was the record in the receipts of the Harbor Board, excepting two. One in 1914 and one in 1917 showed larger totals. The affairs of the harbor are running very smoothly. notwithstanding some rather weird stories of inadequate provision for shipping and high port costs which gained circulation in the last cam paign anent Amendment No. 32, which provided for a tentative harbor board to function in the event of the State turning over the control of the harbor to the city. But little attention was paid to this amendment, as it was not thought that anything could possibly come of the proposition; but toward the last some of the big ship owners and shippers on the "front" became a little uneasy and inserted a belated advertisement setting forth the situation as it was viewed by those most interested. The prospect, remote as it was, of the harbor being controlled from the city hall galvanized them into action. As it was, they were late, as the measure carried, 70,924 to 48,884. Some of the shippers wish that it had been beaten, fearing that it may operate as an entering wedge, and serve to keep the subject agitated.

Hart, Rogers, Fairbanks Plan Rodeo For Poor

By James B. Bloor

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 27 .- The charitable organizations of Los Angeles always are in debt to the motion picture colony. Rarely is an entertainment given for the benefit of a charity that motion picture people do not rally to the standard and help put it over. They have yet to score their first failure to respond. The very latest enterprise is headed by Bill Hart, Doug. Fairbanks and Will Rogers. They will be the guiding spirits of a rodeo, the thought for which was born in the mind of Nick Gogley, a Goldwyn photo-player. It will be given late in December for the benefit of the poor. They have set $75,000 as their financial goal and are san-guine of success. Every cowboy connected with motion pictures will volunteer his services, every siar, male and female; leading men and women and a host of lesser film lights, will do their bit. In the name of charity they will "carry on" in the enthusi-astic manner so typical of Los Angeles' picture colony.

Just for illustration: More than $2500 was realized by a benefit given for the California Child Welfare league one night last week. Tom Mix and Bull Montana appeared in athletic stunts. Wallie Reid rendered several solos on his favorite saxophone, and Charlie Murray acted as master of ceremonies. Kid McCoy, Leach Cross, Joe Rivers and Tommy Ryan, all at one time celebrated as puilists, also took part.

Rise of J. Theodore Reed

Theodore Reed, Douglas Fairbanks' new director, has been with the noted star three years. He began at the lowest rung of the cinema ladder. He tackled made good, wherever place. During the war he was an executive officer of an automobile accessory corporation in Detroit. When Doug, was asked by the government to make a transcontinental tour in the interests of the Lib-Bond campaign, Reed was assigned to accompany him. the close of the campaign, he joined the Fairbanks studio who has I sistant director for some time will make his debut as a fullfledged director with the filming of "The Nut," Doug 's forthcoming picture. Doug, and Mary have been to the Grand Canyon for a rest. Each will make two more pictures before engaging in their second Europeas trip.

Billie Burke's Studio

Billie Burke is to have a picture studio of her own in Hollywood. This statement is given on the authority of her husband, Florenz Ziegfeld, the New York theatrical producer. The site of the proposed studio has not been definitely determined upon but it will be located in the heart of illuland and will be all that all. lmland and will be all that skill and money can make. Billie has and money can make. Bittle has two more pictures to make for Famous Players-Lasky. When this task is accomplished it is expected her new studio will be ready for her.

Shall Salaries of Stars Be Cut? Movies Facing It's Up to Public, Declares L'asky

By Jesse L. Lasky

(Written for The OAKLAND TRIBUNE)

The motion picture star must | fact, because he is sure of himself always be judged by his or her drawing power, and paid accordingly. This is the answer to the article of C. Nario in the Oakland TRIBUNE pointing out that a campaign has begun to cut motion picture stars' salaries.

"In the last analysis, the business of producing motion pictures is a business as well as an art and must be conducted along business lines if it is to succeed. Much as some might wish to subordinate all commercialism to art, it is imposible to do this and exist, unless art happens to meet with the approval of the final arbiters of all our fortunes-the public.

Whoever it was who gave utterance to that ill-advised canard: "The public be d---d!" was very soon answered by a great showman who declared with even greater emphasis, "The public be bleased!" Nor has anyone ever been able to succeed who purveyed popular or even specialized entertainment without making this the basis of his activities.

Public Fixes Standard

The public must be pleased or here will be no public for the one who provides its amusement e-

Therefore, the star who is to succeed and continue to be popular must please the public; the motion nicture producer who hopes to maintain his position must con-tinue to please the public and this is his standard of work. True, he may continually—and should improve the quality of his product: if the public needs lifting up, he should be able to provide uplining material.

Therefore, the star or player who pleases the build and con-tinues to do so will always be one of his income, commensurate with

That the judgment of the public is reasonably sure and just, is proved, I think, by the fact that really great actors and actresses have maintained their positions and commanded handsome incomes. And the really great artist need have no fear, has none, in and his public. The alarmists may be numbered among those who are not sure of either. They may see the handwriting on the wall, if they feel themselves lacking in the essentials to popularity. I will not say that exorbitant salaries have not been paid to film tilatings of stage. This there when the results of ill-advised efforts to ferce popularity or to outdo someone else in bidding. The moment the player received more than was commensurate with his drawing power the producer suffered in like measure. The road of film

Those Who Are Not Sure

producing is strewn with the bleaching bones of those who tried

thus to disregard that cardinal principal of showmanship-"The public be pleased."

"You can't fool all the people all of the time." No same producer tris: to do any such thing, even a part of the time.

Thus the salaries that are legitle mate are going to continue just to long as the public accepts the and is willing to pay in sufficient numbers to see them act.

All the aditation that may have risen or may arise to the effect that the creat stars and player are to be cut down, insmeally, is the really, no doubt, of the slarined unterances of those who are not sure of themselves.
So far as the Pamous-Players-Laskyy Corporation is concerned, in its new policy to present all-star casts, or great pictures with several great actors and actresses in principal roles, it is simply adspecing with the age and striving to give the public what it waste The pictures will cost far more than the average production. The are written by foremest writers, acted by foremost actors and di-rected by foremost directors. The hest answer to the rumors of sale ary cutting is the manner in which the stars and others concerned has accepted the idea. One and all have been enthusiastic and have realized the immense advantage accruing to all involved.

Shortage In Locations

The motion picture industry. according to leading producers, is threatened with a "location shortage" which may result in hampering production to any ularming extent unless ways and means are devised for meeting this emergency.

D. W. Griffith, now operating in the cast, gave as his reason for leaving southern California a lack of suitable locations. He set forth the claim that all available photographic points had been 'shot" from every possible angle had seemed to be an inexhaustible picture field threatens to become Many other producers, among them R. A. Walsh, producing in conjunction with Mayflower Photoplay corporation, are setting up the same cry not only about southern California but re garding other territories which had previously seemed to be especially productive of desirable loeations. It is set forth by Walsh that a concentrated drive for new "location territories" must be conducted immediately if a shortage is to be prevented.

"One of the things that con-fronted me when I began the problem of proper locations. I found it impossible to get the right sort of exterior settings for every American story I considered, I decided upon an English story, for which I could build sets."

In order that he may get a line on every available American to eation the producer is collecting data and photographs regarding various sections of this continent through the United States geodetac and geological survey, and is gathering statistics concerning rainfall and weather conditions through the United States weather bureau. In this manner Walsh hopes to build up an extensive library of available movie loca-

And here's what D. W. Griffith

Farrar and Tips to ScenarioWriters Santschi I write the plain story and never attempt technical continuity, declares the author of "The Great Redeemer": Not quite like a novel, not quite like a newspaper story, but a cross between the two-the main thing is to write it.

----By H. H. Van Loan--

There is a mistaken idea among amateur scenario writers regarding the form of the synopsis. To be exact the producer doesn't carea snap for form--what he wants is the STORY. True, if you send in a story in long hand the producer won't give it much attention, if any at all.

During my experience as a scenario writer I have found it hest to write my stories in detail. But never did I touch on the continu ity—the form of manuscript whed by the director. I have found it most practical to tell the story in a natural way, leaving it to the studio experts to prepare it for the screen. The scripts have varied in length from fifteen to 100,000 words, depending a good deal on the type of narrative. The best way to do is to visualize your characters and then put them down on paper as you see them act. Describe your scenery. Do it as you would in writing a story

There are supposed to be, by actual count-although I've been too busy to verify it-about 100,-000,000 of us in the United States And, with the exception of a colored switchman stationed neur Eureka. Ga., who has been deaf, dumb and blind since his birth, all of us have at times believed we were logically entitled to become for a book or magazine. I have found that some producers want only a short synonsis of the story, say five or 6000 words, but you will find that most of the film magnates prefer a more de-tailed synopsis, because it assists the continuity writer.

Don't write continuity --- the producer doesn't want it. Ten chances to one if you wrote contimity you wouldn't know screen technique, and when the producer received the story he would laugh at the attempt. To write continuity one must have studied the screen from a studio angle for several years. Continuity is scene for scene as it is written for the screen, and as I said before, don't

What the producer wants is the story—the idea—and if you give him this you will have much success. In my articles which fol-low I will try to show you where to get ideas for stories, and how to put them into saleable form the Shakespeare of the screen. That's fine. That's good stuff, and a most excellent ambition. But, somewhere between the first second scenario something snatched the "am" out of that word, with the result that the screen has suffered. Something

Five Years Ago Oakland Saw Charlotte Greenwood, Eddie Foy

What was doing in Oakland heaters five years ago?

Well, for instance, Charlotte Greenwood came to the Macdonough theater for the first time in "So Long Letty" and the Pantages used a full page in the TRIBUNE to announce its exclusive contract for Triangle motion pictures.

And Walker Whiteside was here too in the last week of December, 1915. He played in "The Ty-phoon" and "The Melting Pot." Looking backward and thinking what one did is always an interesting occupation, so let's examine some more findings of a playgoer who has stored away nearly all of the programs of Oakland thea-iters of five years ago.

In those days we find the Ye Liberty Playhouse playing vaudeville and called the Hippodrome. The Broadway theater was called the Republic and also played vaudeville. Of course, the Orpheum and Pantages were playing vaude-

Some other interesting productions which visited the Macdonough at that time were the Henry Miller production of "Daddy Long Legs" which has since been produced to large houses at the Ful-ton playhouse times times. Rich-ard Walton Tully's "The Bird of Paradise," then in its fifth session. and "A Pair of Sixes" with Oscar Figman.

Richest Drama Is Found In Actual Life

Not all you see on the screen s pure fiction. Some of the most extravagant scenes have been drawn from real life and toned down for camera purposes.

A striking instance of the quirements will be seen in Alice Lake's new Metro production, Mother Love," in which the most colorful scene is a faithful re-production of a dramatic incident that took place in a New York cafe.

Several years ago blase New York was startled to read of a young girl who, having abandoned a fruitless search for employment, arose in a crowded cabaret and offered herself at auction to the highest bidder. The picturesque scene, the starting of forced herself and the picturesque scene, the starting of forced herself. cufé. ling offer of the girl, and the wild scene that followed, were described by one newspaper as "so unusual as to be unbelievable if offered as fiction."

The famous New York cafe, the revelry and the entire scene have been reproduced in detail for one of the many big scenes of Metro's special production of "Mother Love," Miss Lake, as the heroine of the story, stops upon an improvised auction block and offers herself to the highest bilder. The response is such that the dainty ball gown in which she appeared during the filming of the picture was reduced to shreds.
And, just as the bidding is at its height—as was the case in the original scene in the New York restaurant—the prefty auctioneer noticed a man who, sitting alone.

appeared uninterested in the transaction. This so piqued the beauty that she forthwith made for the place where the lonely one was sitting.
"And what do you bid?"

asked. "Nothing at all," he replied, "for I don't want you."
"Then it's all over," she said.

"I'm going with you."
So Miss Lake, Metro's youngest star, has enacted in reel life the scene that rothe immened in real life, and has given a vivid interpretation realistic setting.

Whether the stars will be contented to subordinate themselves to team work, whether the income of the films will be commensurate with the heavy com-bined salaries—these and other phases of the matter have stirred the industry.

But another phase is brought p by Arthur S. Kane, who is one of the dominant figures of the industry on its commercial side. Kane is distributor of Charles Ray, Bessie Love, Carter De Ha-ven and Tom Santschi features. While not in any sense criticising the massing of stars, Kane believes the public will always prefer to focus its admiration on one star if that star is really what the term implies.' always has to suffer, y'know. However, this particular sort of suf-fering cannot be due to the fact that there is a dearth of ideas in America, or that creative art is on the decline. The undiscovered talent is the greatest talent of all. If there is one nation blessed with original ideas it is the United States. No matter which way we turn we behold great evidences of still flourished with magnificent success under our local trademark The way in which it was discovered was most original; the manner in which it gained its inde-pendence was unique, and the manner in which it has gone about everything, since its creation, has attracted the admiration of the

The Bad and the Good

Despite this many of you will sigh after leaving a picture theater and, as you pind homeward, you admit that the art of the screen is on the decline with the breaks burned out. You start to reflect on the rise of steel, oil and industrials, and fail to understand why every picture released at the local theater doesn't average up to the high grade of best sellers. You admit that you're more interested in the new erop of pineapples and prunes.

And yef, a picture is similar to e prune in that it is either good or and. You don't find the grocer throwing away the had prunes, do you? Then why should you expect the producer to throw a bad picture into the discard, especially when eggs are bringing a dollar a dozen, without the knowledge of the producer? He can't, because it represents an outlay, just as the prime and the egg does. The only difference is the grocer slips across a bad prune when you're not looking, and the producer puts a bad picture across when you are

Now then, we can't expect that the 180,500,000 of as can soirt and devote our time to raising good prunes or making fine pictures. Even if we could the results wouldn't be much better, for wo must acknowledge that fate has decreed that we can't continually succeed at any one thing. But we can and should, put our ideas on the market for making better pic-tures, and that can be accomplished by furnishing the producer with better stories and origin-

Getting the Idea

Some of you will say that you never get any ideas for screen Perhaps you never get them because you are surrounded with so many of them. Maybe you are not of an observing mind. However, you probably think you are. For example: You happen to be passing along a busy thorourhfare of your city during the rush hour and you see a man stub his toe ever an object on the side-walk. His contortions, executed during his efforts to keep himself from falling, make him resemble a temperamental leader of a sym phony orchestra or an armless paperhanger with an attack of cooties, with the result that he creates much laughter.

Immediately you decide that here is a great subject for a scenario and you feel certain that such a comedy situation would be an immense hit on the screen. Why? Recause you believe that comedy is usually derived from injury suf-fored by another.

Perhaps such a situation would amuse certain audiences, but the

SEEING THINGS at NIGHT By Heywood Broun Dramatic Critic of the New York Tribune, Theatrical Reviewer for Golliers and Correspondent for The OAKLAND TRIBUNE

Not one of the New York critics felt competent to say Just Walli Bernard Shaw meant when he wrote "Heartbreak House," but most of them professed promind admiration, for all that. At least they could detect the flapping of wings and they knew that the great man was in motion. With him flew thoughts, and that is rare enough in the theater for notice, ever though the speciator may be culte in the dark as to their nature or destination. Shaw himself has supplied a suggestion for the correct attitude toward "Heartbreak House" in a brief exchange in the last act in which we find: Mangan—I don't understand a word of that.

Ellie Neither do 1. But I know it means something.

Shaw's Mind Was Not Crystal Clear

As a matter of fact, there is every evidence that Shaw's mind was not crystal clear when he set out to write his latest play which had its world premier in New York under the auspices of the Theater Guild. He undertook to express, in somewhat roundabout fushion, his reactions to the World War, and any one who followed his work closely throughout the conflict can hardly avoid the impression that he found it difficult to take a position and stick to it. He was in the dilemma of not believing that the war was wholly justified and yet, could not see any way out but to go through with it. Unlike Mr. Britling, he was never able to see quite to the horizon. There were fogs which shut off his vision and there are still fogs. He has put them into "Beartbreak House."

The play has all the effect of a brilliant mind setting forth many beliefs without stopping to link them up into any scheme of con-clusion. As a result "Heartbreak House" contains some of the most brilliant and amusing dialogues which Shaw has ever conceived and yet it must rank below his plays because it is not animated by any one littering thoroughfare. It is luxuriant but trackless. Contrary to the popular belief. Shaw, the drumutist, is generally at illuminating figure. He has simplified many a remote philosophy for us by putting it into terms of dramatic action. If the "superman" has come into common talk it is because Shaw has visualized him for us even if he didn't create him.

His Philosophy Weakens Toward the End

"Reartbreak House" is quite different. Probably there lies in it something keen and bright and as pointed as a needle, but there is also a haystack. It seems a pity that Shaw has not hitched any one of his threads to this needle. He has, for instance, given eloquent expression in a few lines to a profound piece of philosophy and then allowed it to fade out of his scheme of things. Ellie, perhaps his most successful characterization in the play, is talking, and she says, "His heart is breaking; that is all. It is a curious sensation; the sort of pain that goes merelfully beyond our powers of feeling. When your heart is broken your boats are burned; nothing matters any more. It is the end of happiness and the beginning of peace." This same theme gave Synge a whole play, though a one-act one, for this is the spirit which animated "Riders to the Soa." The prodigal Mr. Shaw is done with it in two sentences and then makes off to talk of something clas.

In so far as Shaw has flouted theatrical conventions for good reason, he has been not an indifferent but a great technician of the theater, but in "Hearthreak House" there are times when he seems to flout those things which the theatergoer has come to respect, for no better reason than to annoy his audiences. That is not enough. It has come to be a tradition, for instance, that no play should last more than three hours. Still if a man has five hours of eleganore. It has come to be a tradition, for instance, that no play should last more, than three hours. Still, if a man has five hours of cloquence within the scope of his inspiration he would be a coward to stop in mid-career merely to be suburban dwellers make sure of the last car home. Shaw's play drags beyond the limit by sheer perversity. Having reached an excellent curtain in the second act. Shaw insists on going on with a long and dull scene which quite deflates the interest which previous happenings had created. This time he simply will not endure the admiration of disciples. Perhaps he is still smarting under the description which Frank Harris has just brought forward for him: "Shaw has no enemies and none of his friends is enough to destroy the accuracy of this remark.

However, with all his faults and long interludes of dallness, "Heatr-break House" is one of the few pieces in town which invites thought. Other nere recent dramas repel it. "The Mandarin," produced with much fuss and feathers, turned out to be no more than one of those strange plays in which the revelation is made in the last act that all the characters were insune from the start and should not be held responsible for their queer doings. "Thy Name Is Woman" follows an even none familiar formula and talks of wild and passionate love-making in Spain where, according to the dramatists, love is regarded as a series of hammerlocks, half nelsons and other punshing holds. At any rate the heroine first comes to believe that the young soldier cares for her because he seizes her roughly and all but breaks her shoulderblade. In the next art he fastens his finers around her throat and chokes her for several minutes. At last she is released, disheveled and breathless but also happy, for she realizes

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 27 .- Darney Didfield and his famous cigar got big cheer at the speedway classic Thanksgiving day, when Barney paced the field in his Marmon speed-ster. Famous as the "grand old man" of the racing game, Oldfield made them all step out, for he pushed the throttle through the floor of his car with all his old-time enthysiasm enthusiasm.

From a standing start Barney swung into a rapid gan that was recorded as better than 95 miles an hour by the time he got around to the stands at the end of the pre-liminary lap. The Marmon speester, a stock car in every particular, was delivered to Oldfield a few months

Barney may have retired from the racing game, but he showed that he hasn't forgotten how, much to the delight of the thousands of racing fans who were gathered at Bev-erly Speedway for the great chameriy speedway for the great cham-pionship contest. The Marmon speedster shot around the track ahead of the entire field of fast racing cars, seemingly without ef-fort. Its silent speed was in sharp contrast to the roaring progress of the racers. the racers.

"I knew the Marmon speedster could stay ahead of the field without effort," Oldfield declared at the conclusion of the preliminary lap. but the car really showed even more power than I had anticipated. It made me feel like staying in the race, for I feel confident the ca would have kept up its pace for many, many laps."

Emergency Repair For a Split Gear

It frequently happens that a split gear develops a tendency to slip on its gear develops a tendency to ship on its shaft. As an emergency measure this may be remedied by wrapping sand-paper which has been doubled over the shaft, so that it acts as a shim between gear and shaft. In this way both gear and shaft have a rough sanded surface against them, which affactually persents climping. effectually perevents slipping.

Ward's story follows #TO OVERCOME THE TROUBLE "Many of our tire merchants that handle tires both new and old advise the buyer wrong, regarding the amount of air they should carry in their tire in order to get the most miles and longest wear out of a tire.
"The average auto owner knows but little about the best method to follow in order to get the best wear out of a tire. "The tire merchani advises the buyer to keep their tires inflated equal to twenty pounds to the inch: taking a four-inch tire and keep the air pressure up to 20 pounds to the inch or 80 pounds of air pressure for a four-inch tire, regardless what make of tire it may be.

"We notice some brins are still stamping the air inflation on the tire. We do not believe the factory that has made a study of tires will still continue to stamp on the tire an air inflation of 20 pounds to the inch unless it is an old tire that has been in storage for some time. The life of the tire with an over inflation is so short the tread hardly shows any

CAUSES OF BLOW-OUTS

"We are going to give, as the two principal causes of bead trouble or tires blowing off the rims, blowouts as they are called. First, over inflation—too strong an air pressure, the driver trying to follow the advice of the man that sold him the tire. 'Many a tire merchant advises a heavy air pressure in cord tires and in fact cord tires do not require as heavy air pressure as a fabric tire.

The writer believes that no tire, whether it he now or old, cord or fabric, should be inflated to exceed 50 pounds if the tire is four-inch or

"Many clain: it is necessary to in-fiate a tire to 80 pounds in order to save the side walls of the tire from cracking. This argument in favor of a high air pressure is very fimsy, and will not stand. The truth is that the tire is the only thing about an automobile that has a solid base on which to stand. The body of the car has the relaxation both from the springs and the tires, Therefore it is necessary that the tire must stand on its own relax, and if heavy loaded the tire must have some give or it will be compelled to blow out, or give in the weakest touring cars a closed second. an many cases one the reaves

WHEN THINGS GO UP

Although the Cole Motor Car Company, in common with rost manufacturers of high grade cars, long ago withdrew from the field of track racing, individual Cole owners are rolling up some remarkable victories in stock car events in various

A few weeks ago the Cole Motor Car Company received word from Havana, Cuba, to the effect that Roland Markham, driving a stock Cole Aero-Eight at Oriental Park there, set a new stock car mark for Cuban drivers by going a 10-mile course in 4 minutes and 10 seconds, or at the rate of 65.45 miles per hour. Markham's latest victory is the second in which, with an Aero-Eight, he has beaten the field of fast cars and established a new Cuban record In a 30-mile race on the same track a little over a year ago. Markham's Cole Acro-Dight traveled the 30 miles in 29 minutes and 15

Markham's newest Cuban record was established on a one-mile dirt track used ordinarily for horseracing. The Cole entry was a regular stock chassis. The Aero-Eight finished fully a quarter of a mile ahead of its nearest antagonist The wonderful steadiness and fine running qualities shown by the Cole won an enthusiastic demonstration of approval from the thousands of spectators who lined the track.

The Ford Sedan

N all-weather car-this pretty thoroughly describes the Ford Sedan. A In rain or cold weather it is a cozy, comfortable, enclosed car; in warm weather, an ideal Touring car. The plate glass windows are raised or lowered in a minute's time. The Ford Sedan is always in accord with your wishes. Finely upholstered; equipped with electric starting and lighting system; demountable rims and tire carrier in rear; instrument board on dash; the Sedan is a car of convenience and class, and has proven a favorite family car. Yet the reliable Ford chassis and motor are a part of the Ford Sedan and that means low upkeep cost, ease of operation, and durability. The Ford Sedan is just as popular on the farm as in the city. It fits family needs everywhere.

Come in and see the Ford Sedan. If you want one, place your order now. Orders are filled in the same sequence they are received. Make us your Ford headquarters, as we are experts with the famous "Ford After-Service."

INTEGRITY

Some one has said of this, "The moral grandeur of independent IN-TEGRITY is the sublimest thing in nature."

Does anyone claim that INTEG-RITY injures—either by reason of any special privilege or aptitude to any particular business or vocation? Is not INTEGRITY of purpose or honest endeavor, as attainable to one as to another?

"But," you say, "what has this to do with the automobile business?"

Let us see. INTEGRITY infers the fulfilment of our contracts.

INTEGRITY brooks no avoidance in the discharge of a duty.

INTEGRITY compels and cheerfully acquiesces to upright dealings.

INTEGRITY, to be in any manner acceptable, must be wholly free from dishonest motives.

Within the memory of a majority of the public the automobile industry has grown from a ridiculed and despised experiment to the third largest industrial activity in the country. So fast has it grown that both experience and ingenuity have been hard pressed to keep pace. What wonder then that conscious knowledge of its requirements and mental development as to its close knit contractual relationship with the auto-thinking public should have lagged somewhat in the rapid rise.

No one will dispute—the conscientious auto tradesman least of allthat, as the industry grew, probity. as affecting its business dealings fell far behind; to the degree that not so very long ago it was felt that a man shed some measure of his self respect upon entering the automobile business, being thereupon classified with and suspected as of those unscrupulous ones—and they were not a few who had, by their very lack of IN-TEGRITY, their sharp practices and their entire disregard of 'the golden rule" dragged the industry to the foot of the ladder of public regard.

Honosty IS the best policy. INTECRITY is a profitable possession and it is with this awakened consciousness, with an undeniable and not-to-be-denied right to raise its standard of ethics and so conduct its business dealings, that the California Automobile Trade Association asks that you reciprocate with us in thought, exchange trust for trust, confidence for confidence, in the herein voiced wish and endeavor to make our individual and collective INTEGRITY both a verity and a living practice.

This, in a unitshell, is the substance of a joyous announcement made by the Weaver-Wells Company, following the receipt of a shipment of the new cars that is large enough to allow them to make a few

The new car, of original design, is manufactured complete in the $20,000,000 factory built by the Studebaker Corporation at South Bond, Ind., especially for the quan-tity production of the new light six. Particular interest is attached to the new car as it was in this state that engineers gave the new light six its most strenuous road tests before the new factory went into production on the new model. (A sample car was driven through every part of the state after being brought across country from the East over the Rockies. In the Yosemite and the Sierras the car was put to every test which automobiles can encounter in the most severe use. In the mountains its power, brakes and carburetion at high altitudes were proven satisfactory and in the hor vaileys, power and carburetin at low altitudes and torrid heat were found correct. As a result of the test in this state the engineers decided on California as the future testing ground for all new Studebaker mod-

The new car has rakish, yet graceful, lines. The angle at which the windshield is tipped and the "hus" of the fenders contribute much of the rakishness to the design. A Gypsy top with plateglass oval windows in the rear surmount the body, which is uphoistered in geenuine

A WORD OF WARNING REGARDING CADILLAC DELIVERIES—

Each year a certain number of persons purchase motor cars for delivery just before Christmas. Some are intended for Christmas presents, while others are just a pleasant surprise for the family during the holiday season.

To these buyers we wish to sound a note of warning. The number of Cadillac cars that will be available for delivery before Christmas is very limited. Our present stock is small and we do not believe the shipments this month will take care of the holiday demand: therefore, we desire to impress upon prospective buyers of Cadillacs that if delivery is desired before the holidays it is imperative that orders be placed at once.

Possession of a Mack truck will safeguard you against uncertainty as to your investment and mechanical durability.

Mack Truck

At this time, when the future of many motor truck producers is problematical, the purchaser must exercise extreme caution. He knows the danger of buying a truck that has a vacillating price. He has learned to fear the possibility of spending his money on an "orphan."

There is only one price for MACK trucks and this is guaranteed against reduction. Should it go up you profit that much more. The manufacturing standards for MACK trucks are the highest in the world and there can be no deviation. Almost a quarter century of building motor trucks exclusively is back of every MACK-the past success is a criterion for the future.

Martin J. Welch of Hibbing, Minn., is one of these arrivals. Welch drove a Velie west and it is no wonder he is somewhat enthusiastic about his Velie, for not only did he bring four passengers all the way from Minnesota with him, but he piled a complete camping outfit, including everything the most fastidi-ous camper could desire, and several pieces of personal luggage, all onfo the Velie, making itself, as it rolled down Market street here, scarcely discernible under its burden. More than 3000 miles were logged over roads of all kinds, the majority of which, according to Welch, were anything but good. In fact, Welch states that California roads were the first real roads he encountered, and has signified his willingness to sign any sort of a petition or other paper that might help to get the California type of highway construction spread over more of the roads beween here and Minnesota.

In Iowa, Missouri and other states he found many cars stuck and once or twice used the Velle in helping

Abundant rains throughout North-ern California, insuring better crop shortage, the presidential election a thing of the past and increased automobile shopping have stimulated the motor car business to a marked lagree in every important city of this part of the state.

This condition of increased interest in automobiles has been felt par-ticularly by the Peacock Companies. Their associate dealers report similar conditions. Dealers in Southern California and in the Pacific North-west also tell of this buoyant tone in the market.

Optimism, backed up by a large number of orders for future delivery and a satisfactory number of sales actually recorded in the official state registrations, has taken a definite hold upon everyone engaged in the

Analyzed, the situation as it presents itself at the present writing presages a tremendous demand for automobiles early next year and a very probable shortage as soon as spring has been definitely ushered in.

Herd of Hogs Shatters Bucolic Dreams of London Actress. Who Seeks Divorce From Elmhurst Helpmeet

Car She Had Wished to Drive Used to Haul Garbage: His Bungalow Merely a Shack. Says Disillusioned Bride

Like many folk of the theater Mrs. Florence Booth, temporarily of $51 South Elimburst avenue, Cakfand, longed for a home and happy family ties, perhaps even a few chickens at this dooryard. When, however, she found 500 hogs there. she considered it too much. Accordingly she would be divorced.

Last spring Mrs, Booth was, she said, playing a lead in a musical show in London called "Sunshine," She liked it well enough but the lights and the plaudits palled a litthe before ardent letters which she says lay upon her dressing table among the grease paints and paraphernalia of the under stage.

AUTOMOBILE USED TO HATE GARRAGE.

Those letters, she said, were from Harold Booth, an old suitor of Staffordshire days, and he wrote, she avers, of a fortune in a new land, of a fine automobile, of a wide ranch and of a bungalow beside the Golden Gate.

So lovely was it all in prospect she said, along with the thought of old romance renewed, that she yielded to the importunities and last July crossed the sea, met Booth and they wore wed. After that, she charges, they sought the hungalow and found it a "shack" at 615 South Chinhurst avenue, looked over the rich and revealed it a few acres of muck land, surveyed the fortune and proved it 500 head of hogs, and then couldn't ride in the automobile with dignity because it was a car used to had garbage to the swine.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—Premiers Lloyd George and Leygues, after a conference had only served to show the widest divergence of their attitudes toward the various questions to be considered, adjourned early this evening, pending the arrival of Foreign Minister Sforza of Italy. The next meeting will be hold at 10:30 Monthly morning between was Menday morning. Leygues was semi-officially reported to have urged modification of the Sevres treaty, with a revamping of the whole Near East question. Uloyd George was said to have epposed this, believing post-ponement of ratification was sufficient protection. The French premier was derstood to have said that an inoperative trenty always brings up serious questions which must be decided. French officials who accompanied him did not onecal their dissatisfaction with Lloyd George's attitude.

In an interview regarding King Constantine, Leygues declared: "We cannot forget his treachery and foul acts while professing friendship. If he were to return to Athens the Alles would not know what moment peace would end. Greece must have a ruler, but Europe must be guaranteed that she will not be betrayed."

Leygues emphasized Constantine's pro-Germanism and the alleged use of the Greek coast for submarine bases

live on your own acre-

Why complain of the nearness of neighbors? You don't have to live on a forty-foot lot, but can have an acre or a half-acre all your own within the city limits of Oakland. It will take you only 11 minutes to drive from your Montclair estate to the heart of Oakland, and 41 minutes to reach San Francisco by the San Francisco-Sacramento Ry. which taps the property. You can enjoy the outdoor advantages of this beautiful rolling foothill country, with quiet and privacy, and yet be near to the city life and activity.

For investment or home building

You owe it to yourself and your family to know all about Montclair. Otherwise five or six years from now, when Montclair is fully built up and you wish you were living there but can't afford to pay the price asked, you'll say. 'Where was I when that property opened? Sound asleep?'

Montclair adjoins Piedmont on the east and Claremont on the south. You know what residence sites cost today in either of those districts. Montclair is equally high grade, and will be as profitable an investment for those buying today, as Piedmont property has been for its early purchasers.

is the coming residential section of the eastbay. Building restrictions of from $3500 to $10,000 protect your investment. Stores of all kinds are restricted for twenty years to a 25-acre townsile, named Montelair, which will be built up in Spanish Colonial architecture, making the section a western Garden City. The people who are buying in Montclair are the sort you'll like for neighbors. They are seeking large homesites, with trees and view, for the same reason you are.

> Half-acre Homesites $500 to $2000 $50 down

1% of purchase price each month

These prices include water, electricity and surfaced roads. No interest or taxes until June 30, 1921.

To get to Montclair

Phone and we'll call for you. Buses will meet all Park Boulevard cars today at the end of the line, and Piedmont Avenue cars at Park Way and Highland Avenue. If you drive out, take the Moraga Road to Montelair tempsite.

CHILD IS COMPOSED. Persons who attended the launching commented on the composure with which the little girl partici-pated in the ceremony, sending the ribboned bottle with unerring aim crashing against the bow of the vessel named.

All of the honors destined for the father have come to the little girl. The Croix de Guerra was awarded posthumously to Licutenant Sum-ner. The distinction dater was pinned upon the dress of the daugh-ter by General George Parnett, mjor general in command of the Marine Corps in this district, at an impressive ceremony in Washington, D. C., which was participated in by marine, navy and govern-ment officials. Miss Sumner also treasures several citations bestowed upon her father by the French and American government. MANY FRIENDS HERE. Miss Sumner and her mother have been staying at the Hotel Sumerton in San Francisco during a visit to the bay region. They have a large number of friends both in San Francisco and Cak-land. Mrs. Summer and her daughter are to return to their home in Washington tomorrow.

Lieutenant Sumner was with th arrived in France with the dirst contingent of American forces on August 29, 1917. He met his death on July 19, 1918.

The Sunner is to be commissioned within a short time and will be stationed on this coast. Among the ship's officers will be Mrs. Sunner's brother-in-law, Lleubrant Foor Coales. tenant Ross Cooley.

ALAMEDA, Nov. 28.—The first services in the new St. Joseph's Catholic church will be held De-

The original St. Joseph's was destroyed by fire in September, 1919. Plans were immediately started for the reconstruction and from donations of the citizens of Ala-meda $100,000 was raised for the new structure. It was consecrated a couple of months ago and will be ready for the first services Sunday after next. The new church is one of the most imposing Catholic edifices of worship in the bay district. It is constructed on the old Mission style of architecture and occupies a frontage of almost a block. It is absolutely fire and earthquake proof and is one of the finest structures in Alameda. The first services will be con-ucted by the Rev. Father

MAGNETIC ENERGY

After years of painstaking observation I found that:

(I) When any planet is crossing the Nodical line its electro-magnetic energy is at minimum, because its heliocentric plane (through the axis of the celliptic) is inclined to the plane of the salar equator (7-15). And this will be the case for the Earth (2) on December 5.

(II) When any planet is crossing the line of the Quadrature such an energy will be at a maximum, be cause its heliocentric plane will co incide with its heliographic plane (through the solar axis), thus makng, together, only one plane perpendicular to the solar equator.

And this will be the case for Mer cury (1), Venus (2) and, very ap-proximately too, for Mars (4) and Saturn (6), on or about Decem-

he item II (see diagram and the foregoing list), the electro-magnetic pergies developed by the planetary Presitions or conjunctions, through and consequently the spots which these celestial phenomena will gen-erate on the solar photosphere wil groduce some very severe terrestrial about the solar axis, will reach the weil-known stormy and seismic solar

And this, with the exception of the opposition A, will be the case of about all the celestial phenomena occurring in loncomber. BIG PLANETS CONJOINING

Another remarkable fact is that the longitude of Juniter is slowly by little, the former planet lends to come in conjunction with the latter.

And because their daily motions are very small and that of Jupiter is nearly twice that of Saturn, the aforesaid conjunction will not occur till August 23, 1921.

Very soon I will publish the result of my calculations concerning this very peculiar celestial event; just now I will limit myself in stating that its slow approaching is already noticeable by a perty but daily in-creasing amount of terrestrial elec-tro-magnetism which is, and will be, generated by the planetary commune ions and oppositions of Jupiter and Saturn with other planets.

Now keeping also in view that most of the planetary phenomena occurred in November will produce their weather and seismic effects in December, we can foretell, with a great degree of certainty, that in the month of December will occur some very severe atmosphecic disturbances as well as numerous and violent seis mic phenomena.

Bring the Children to Toytown

There's more fun and better shopping—these early days in Toytown. Stocks are enormous now, but not for long, so, if you don't want your little tots to do without the playthings upon which they have set their little hearts, it is wise to make selections now. A small deposit will secure any toy until sioner of California is making a real job out of his newly created depart-ment. Recently Mr. Riley called the attention of the Grand Jury of Los Angeles county to the opera-tions of a number of "get-rich-quick" gentlement resident in that county, and flatly requested their indictment for fraud offering to support prose-Riley has delved deep into the fraudulent real estate and colony schemer and is determined to week the sharp out of the business.

This policy of pretecting the prospective settler against wildcar colonization projects is receiving recog-nition in the East. One of the most noted farm papers. "The Prairie Farmer," of Chicago, which has been the Nemesis of several lurid colonization companies, recently printed an editorial concerning California's plan. This editorial was based on the fact that California has passed a law creating the office of State Real Estate Commissioner. State Real Es-tate Commissioner R. L. Riley, who now holds that office, has adopted the plan of placing a premium on legitimate projects.

"The Prairle Farmer" advises its readers, who are the Middle West farmers, all of them prospective California farmers, not to buy land in any California colony unless it has the approval of Commissioner Riley.

The following is the editorial:

No matter how badly a state wants settlers, it cannot afford to get them under false pretenses. A land colonization scheme that lures settlers by false promises, loads eral times its real value, and then leaves them flat on their backs, is hurting the country as well as the California, which has been the scene of many wildcat land schemes, has established a State Real Estate Department to protect land buyers. "This department is endeavoring to correct abuses cov-ering land colonization schemes." ways R. L. Riley, commissioner. We also assume the responsibility of passing upon all such promo-tions and authorize the use on publicity of the following: 'This publicity of the following: 'This project has been submitted to the State Real Estate Commissioner and is approved by him. The basis of approval is soil adaptability. water, title and method of sale. All advertising matter must be submitted to the commissioner for censed and a general supervision maintained over the activities of the company. Unsound promo-tions will be attached by this department and an effort made to diminate fraudulent land schemes. This plan is a good one. The weak point in it is that California cannot control Chicago or other outside companies selling California land. If such concerns are trying to do an honest business, however, they will doubtless have their project approved by the California real estate department before offering land for sale. We would advise our readers to have nothing to do with any California land cheme not so approved. We will be glad to secure from the California department a report on any land scheme in that state in which our readers are interested.

The Santa Fe. Western Pacific and Southern Pacific milroads have ab-plied to the railroad commission for authority to change their rules covring the cost of handling lumber on their wharves. The proposed rule will have the effect of increasing the charges from 25 cents an hour to 51 cents on all regular working days and from 10 cents to 83 cents an hour on Sundays and holidays and for overtime. The rule under which the charges are now in effect has been in vogue for many years.
